PERE MARQUETTE

'Tis often hard to think of men as saints,
And he of whom I sing was merely man; yet
Is there greater saint than Pere Marquette?
Behold him, warrior priest! No weak complaints
Pass from his lips. Though Nature's fierce restraints
Of winter, loneliness, and cold all fret—
They cannot dent the armor of Marquette.
Like Sampson bold he stands—another faints!
The rising sun now greets the waiting earth,
A kneeling priest, with arms outstretched, chaplet
In hand is seen. Giant trees and grass now wet
With heavy dew his stooping form. His worth
God knows, man gleans from this, "Lord, I regret
That I can do no more," prays Pere Marquette.

MARQUETTE

The
1936

Why should Catholic students claim superior advantages? Because their education, taking account of the whole man and his destiny both here and hereafter, must create a philosophy of life which should make for leadership. One can never command leadership unless he has very definite convictions, in relation to the religious, moral and social justice orders. But only the Catholic has these.

And it is precisely because Catholics should have these qualifications for leadership that we want them to become conversant with the social as well as the religious and moral teachings of their Church and then assert themselves in the promulgation of them.

OUR LEADER

The
1936

It is fitting that the Marquette which stands for everything closest to the hearts of Catholic Central students should be dedicated to one who has the welfare of the students closest to his heart.

The Reverend H. James Conway, leader, friend, counselor.

WE HONOR

FOREWORD

To leadership we owe the progress of the world. Leadership, chosen as the theme of this Marquette, is exemplified in the lives of great men: Columbus, the discoverer; Marquette, the spiritual pioneer; Washington, the nation-builder; Lincoln, the preserver of the Union; Rockne, the inspirer of youth. Surely among these can be found an ideal to lead one to high achievement.

LEADERSHIP

The
1936

Leadership may be defined as effective inspiration to thought or action . . . Another way of finding out what leadership means is to study the man generally admitted to be a leader.

Every such man, no matter what other characteristics he may possess, is always noted for knowledge, courage, and generosity. The man who does not give wholeheartedly and lavishly may possess personality but he can never be a leader.

Accordingly, to be in training for leadership means to study for knowledge, to strengthen our wills for courage, and most important of all, to sacrifice a completely personal ambition. In proportion as a man devotes himself wholeheartedly and single-mindedly to a cause, his cause will be successful and his leadership effective.

President, Loyola University
Chicago

The best training for leadership consists in the development within one's self of the spirit of co-operation, the spirit of teamwork. Without the ability to join with others in the successful prosecution of any plan no man can be a proper leader. For this one must develop character and personality.

These two general traits can be best developed by the spirit of self-sacrifice, of perseverance and of willingness to give all that the task confronting us requires. Without such willingness no task worth while has been or will be achieved.

CONTENTS

A good leader must possess certain positive characteristics. His position is one of relativity. He is related to three distinct groups—his superiors, his equals and his subordinates. He cannot maintain his position if he is unwilling to be directed by his superiors, and it is imperative that his relationship with them be congenial.

Mutual respect must exist between him and his equals in order that his own position of leadership will be maintained and strengthened.

Finally, proper leadership should embody the constructive and intelligent guidance of his subordinates. The greatest strength which a leader possesses is found in those whom he leads.

The American High School, with its broad curriculum and its activity directed by competent teachers and administrators, offers excellent opportunities for the training in the fundamental rules that form the basis for leadership in all achievements of life.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

The need for a Catholic high school in Lake County was the starting point of Catholic Central's existence. The school was founded by the Ancilla Domini Sisters in 1921.

In 1933 the school became diocesan, and the Sisters of the Holy Cross replaced the Ancilla Domini Sisters. In 1934 the Reverend H. James Conway succeeded the Reverend P. J. Schmid as director.

The school is ideally situated with facilities for convenient transportation for students from the entire Calumet district. The courses offered cover a wide variety of subjects. Catholic Central High School is accredited by the state of Indiana.

CLASS HISTORY

On September 5, 1932, approximately one hundred twenty freshmen set to sea in the good ship "Education" bound for the port of "Graduation." They were destined to be the most outstanding class ever to walk across the mythical gangplank of Catholic Central.

A meeting of the entire "crew" was held and the following were chosen to lead the up-and-coming Centralites: Edward Sweeney, Chester Nytko, Marie Fleck, Chester Kiciak.

Led by these capable representatives, the class commenced its string of achievements by holding one of the most successful "Penny Socials" ever sponsored by a Freshman class. Freshman athletes also gave a warning that they would be heard from in the future.

Sailing on into the second year they found themselves much better acquainted with the "ship's" rigging and the original crew still presented a bold front despite a slight depletion in the ranks. Several minor mutinies were quelled without mishap to "ship" or "crew". The new mascot, "Narcissus", the pride and joy of all, made for itself a permanent place in all hearts.

The "ship's" officers this year were: Joseph Nalepa, Imelda O'Keefe, Alice Watson, Anthony Piatek.

Second-year-men distinguished themselves on both the football field and the basketball court. Also, social events always found a goodly portion of Sophomore participants.

Having successfully weathered the storms of bashfulness, inexperience, and subjection, they entered into the last half of their journey. As Juniors the class executives were Stephen Kona, Jerome Huber, Alice Watson, Gene Moloney.

This year's successful football campaign was due in no small part to Junior athletes. The Boys' Class Basketball Tournament was captured by the Juniors.

The major social event of this year was the Junior Prom. This affair was capably handled by willing and enthusiastic "deck hands" of the class of '36.

Land Ahoy! Graduation is ahead and eighty-eight proud seniors look forward to that final day. This last year the football and basketball teams had successful seasons. On both teams nearly all positions were held by seniors. Officers for this final year were James Ikovic, Martha Sabados, Ann Kinel, Raymond Michalewicz.

Commencement week climaxed the "cruise" of the travelers. The alumni banquet, the senior breakfast, class day, and the picnic added gayety on the good ship "Education."

The editing of the "Marquette" represents our final official act as students of Catholic Central. At last, after four years, on rough seas and fair, we dock, ready to conquer that which lies beyond.

JUNIOR ACTIVITIES

The activities of the Junior Class have been remarkable, not for their number but for their intensity. In the election of officers the class chose: Joseph Nowak, president; George Parker, vice-president; Edna O'Hern, secretary; Mary Agnes Schneider, treasurer. An impromptu holiday party was given prior to the Christmas recess; mid-term examinations and the retreat prevented more public functions until the first Friday of March. Here the class blossomed forth for the first time with a startling display of aptitude and talent. The occasion was the monthly meeting of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade. Joseph Nowak, Paul Ryband, Earl Miller, Jane Fuehrmeyer, William DeMuth, Elaine Farcus, James Lauerman, Patrick Mulloy and Mary Louise Mores were those who performed individually, while the entire class took part in choral singing. This meeting deviated from the usual course of procedure at the meetings and we hope that it has set a precedent to be followed by the rest of the school.

THE CAPTAIN

Do you know what it means to be captain?

As a leader he should be the best

For he must be as firm as a mountain,

As a guide he is put to the test.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Undaunted by the trials of Freshman life, the Sophomore class inaugurated the current school term by electing as officers Kenneth Moser, president, and John Dillon, Rita Moloney and Robert Hill as assistants. These officers with the help of Laura Anne Sweeney, social director, arranged two successful dancing parties in the course of the year.

A number of boys went out for football and basketball. The girls also became interested in the latter sport. On Armistice Day the class staged a patriotic celebration for the entire school.

In order to bring something novel into their monthly mission meetings the Sophomores asked Father Switalski, C. S. C., to show that interesting and educational movie, "The Holy Cross Missions in India." The students enjoyed especially the examples of oriental costumes.

Several members of the class aided in the presentation of "Apple Blossom Time" and "The Ghost Parade."

The Sophomores have participated in every branch of activity open to them, and thus they show their school loyalty by their willingness to engage in all the activities of the school.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

From a timid group of eighth grade graduates, some of whom probably saw Catholic Central for the first time on September 7, 1935, the Freshman Class has welded itself into a strong faction. From the beginning it has been interested in everything connected with school activities.

The first action of the class after becoming acquainted, was to elect the following class officers: president, Clarence Klosky; vice-president, Betty Clusserath; secretary, James McShane; treasurer, Robert Kolb; social chairman, Ruth Masse; recording secretary, Margaret Ramsay.

The first real get-together was at a Halloween party. The annual Christmas entertainment was given December 18, 1935, and consisted of two plays. The cast of "The Christmas Party" included: Genese Hayes, Anthony Tramm, Perry Thompson, Margaret Ramsay, Regina Lannon, Stella Regan, Adeline Pokropinski and Betty Clusserath. The cast of the second play "The Empty Room" was composed of Forrest Whitten, Hallie Mudro, Caroline Cvitkovich, Noel Cuff, Rosemary Miller, Richard Hybiak and Louis Wieser.

On February 25, 1936, the Freshmen entertained the Mothers' Club with the comedy, "Elmer." Lorraine Kinsock, Thomas Holman, Margaret Schloer, Ruth Masse, Margaret Deasy, Ann Brzinski, Agnes Oudshoorn, Charles Young and Lucian Lauerman were the cast.

To honor St. Patrick, the Freshmen invited the student body to their program. Songs, readings, dances and a playlet pleased the audience. After the program the students listened attentively to the sincere words of Colonel Walter Riley on loyalty to the Faith.

WHY SHOULD I

Through the window
I can see
Sunlight shining
On the tree,
If I chance to Raise my eye
I can see the Clouds float by,
If I'd look out
To the right
I'd see smoke-stacks
Slim and white,
If I'd look to
Left and down
I'd see smoke come
From the town.
Why should I look
Left or right
When I can see
Warm sunlight
Shining on leaves
Young and shy
Or watch the clouds slip
Slowly by?

NOON AT CATHOLIC CENTRAL

All are rushing to and fro,
Each one stepping on your toe,
What's the trouble? You don't know?
Why, it's noon at Catholic Central!
No more signs of pain or woe,
No more voices kept down low,
All so noisy, now you know,
It's noon at Catholic Central.

NATURE'S BATTLE

There comes in the Winter a serious plight,
It's there in the day, it's there in the night;
Whatever it touches is for the time lost,
It comes in the person of old Jack Frost.

He pulls, he tugs, and at us he points,
Until our fingers seem useless joints;
He blows his breath, a-sending forth chills
Underneath door-jambs and window-sills.

Soon, however, his breath grows weak;
A round, bright something begins to seek
This villainous rogue of the Winter days,
And force the rascal to change his ways.

At first the struggle is hard and fierce,
But soon the stranger begins to pierce,
The armor of the roguish one;
He conquers! The winner is old Mr. Sun.

Robert H. Schumacher

Christian doctrine aids the students in Catholic schools to acquire those essentials which make for ethical conduct, character building, consideration for others, and good citizenship. Certainly, educational theories which overlook moral training or impart it in a limited way, do not fulfill the primary purpose of education.

Studies offered in Catholic schools are broad and cultural. The courses represent the latest and best in education, and prepare one for his life work. There are the advantages of contact with capable instructors, trained in their profession, and agreeable companionship with a very fine group of young people.

The orchestra of Catholic Central High School is under the supervision of a capable director, the Reverend Richard Grunenberg. No performance is complete without a selection by the orchestra. Its first public appearance was made at the presentation of "Apple Blossom Time" and another at "The Ghost Parade." It was a feature for the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the director, the Reverend Richard Grunenberg.

Fourteen of its members have had two or three years' experience while seven are new this year. This year the orchestra has given the new band organization a chance to make its debut.

The Catholic Central High School Band was organized late in October, 1935, under the capable direction of Mr. Victor J. Sarvello. The Band now consists of over thirty members and is still expanding. Through the cooperation of its members and the whole-hearted support of the student body it has been successful.

It made its debut on December 18th, the night of the annual Freshman play. Solos were played by the following members: Anthony Bonaventura, saxophone; Gilbert Howard; coronet; Ambrose McGinnity; trombone.

Its second appearance was made on the night of the Central-Decatur basketball game. The playing and the singing of the "Central Victory March" by the student body and the band inspired the team to win the game by a wide margin.

Many schools in this vicinity have a Mothers' Club, but none can compete with ours. The reason is that our mothers have cooperated so splendidly with all activities. The members are to be praised for the success of the shower they gave to the Sisters at the beginning of the year. As a result of their pot-luck supper the fathers became interested in the school.

The telephone bridge, and the library tea, and book shower were two more social affairs given for the benefit of the school. Among many gifts from the Mothers' Club it is hard to decide which are the most appreciated: the new cassocks for the acolytes, the new radios for the convent and rectory or the beautiful furnishings for the Sisters' reception room. Both the faculty and the students deeply appreciate our Mothers' Club.

At a meeting held in the school auditorium on the evening of February 10th a representative group of fathers of Catholic Central High School students were informed by Father Conway that it was the intention to form a "Catholic Central High School Men's Club". Membership in this club is unrestricted. Catholic or non-Catholic may join. Parents of Centralites and those not so fortunate are equally welcome. The aim of the Catholic Central High School Men's Club is to create and promote an interest in Catholic Central High School in particular and in Catholic education in general. Social and Athletic activities will be encouraged and the several committees to handle these activities will be formed.

The Junior Choral Club made its first appearance at the March Mission Meeting. Great was the acclaim given it by all who were present. The seventy members can be expected to develop their heretofore hidden talent with sufficient inducement and without doubt there will be reason to boast of a Senior Choral Club next year.

THE CHRISTHURST MISSION UNIT

It's First Friday! And at Catholic Central that means one-way traffic to the gym for a display of talent by one of the four classes, Seniors first, then on down the line, each class doing its share to make our Mission Crusade an active organization. The honor of holding office belongs to the Seniors. This year's choices were: Paul Cashman, president; Angela Gorny, vice-president; George Bolinger, secretary; Robert Marshall, treasurer. Every student of the school belongs; everyone contributes to the spiritual bouquet sent to the foreign missions, and every unselfish member tries to do his part in sacrificing a penny here, a nickel there, to make our financial help to some needy missionary worthwhile.

The work of this year is encouraging. Interesting programs were presented by each class. The prayers counted up into large numbers and mission funds grew to approximately $100.00. May our missionary zeal increase! May we realize more and more the need of foreign missions that we may not be self-centered in our spiritual outlook.

THE SACRED HEART GUILD

It is the hope of the present sixty-five members of the Sacred Heart Guild that this organization which was begun by the Reverend P. J. Schmid, will become a powerful influence in the future. The aim of the Guild is to be an aid in selecting the work for which the members have the greatest aptitude.

The officers for this year were:

Raymond Michaelewicz	President
Albert Petrauskas	Vice-president
Stanley Bugaj	Treasurer
Thomas Engleton	Secretary

GUILD OF OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL

The Guild of Our Lady of Good Counsel was formed to assist its members in solving the problems of their vocation. At present there are fifty girls who belong to this organization. The membership increased noticeably after the inspiring conference given by the retreat master, the Reverend Cyril Ernst.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Catholic Central Alumni Association finds itself able to look upon a definitely successful season. Its main concern and greatest interest has been and shall always be in advancing the status of its Alma Mater in any way that it can.

Its first venture of the year was the Alumni-Varsity football game. The "old grads" were certainly up to their shoulder pads in good football. You say that you are interested in the final outcome,—the ultimate conclusion,—the score? We're only too glad to tell you that the score was 6 to 0 in favor of the Varsity. The proceeds went to the school athletic fund.

In line for well deserved honorable mention was the presentation of "Big Hearted Herbert," under the direction of Miss Roma Murphy. It was another feather in the Alumni cap, for the large audience was pleased with the excellent performance.

The Alumni also sponsored a Football Dance for the benefit of the athletic fund. Young and old alike were in attendance. More and more people seem to realize the need of this school.

The Annual Homecoming Dance during the Christmas holidays drew crowds of Centralites, most of whom had been looking forward to it for weeks. The very worst any one could say for it is that it was a dance. At any rate, orchids to the committee.

The roller skating party was great fun, but not exactly a success for those less familiar with this popular mode of transportation. There was not any one, however, who did not enjoy the evening.

And now, we take this opportunity to welcome the Class of '36 into our group.

There is a saying among us that certain individuals are "born" leaders. This may be true but certainly all such leaders are also adequately trained. History has demonstrated that a leader without training may be cast off, exiled, imprisoned or even executed—leaving human progress in worse condition than before he appeared.

To be a leader in the true sense of the word requires training. The following are commended for consideration of all young people who aspire to future leadership: adequate preparation; a firm belief in the righteousness and importance of the cause; altruistic and patriotic motives; willingness to work; ability to enlist others; initiative; vision; courage; poise.

HONOR MONOGRAM CLUB

One of the coveted rewards of Catholic Central is the membership in the Honor Monogram Club. Although an informal organization, the club attains its purpose by encouraging the students to work for a higher scholastic status. The distinction implies that the recipients maintain a certain fixed average: 92% for Juniors, who merit a large "C"; and 87% for Sophomores, who receive a small "C." A special award is given to students who attain an average of 95% for Sophomore, Junior and Senior years.

DRAMATICS

Apple Blossom Time

On November 19, 1935, a three-act comedy, entitled "Apple Blossom Time" was presented to a large audience in Catholic Central Auditorium.

The Cast

Bob Mathews, an unwilling visitor at the Crossroads	Robert Marshall
Charlie Lawrence, his go-getter friend	Douglas LeBreton
Spud McClosky, direct from Sunshine Alley	Clarence Schreiner
Mickey Maguire, his pal	Frank Maguire
Cal Pickens, the village constable	Paul Cashman
Betty Ann Steward, a human whirlwind	Alice Watson
Nancy Prescott, a pretty neighbor	Virginia Schilling
Loretta Harris, the prettiest girl in the village	Ann Kinel
Polly Biddle, caretaker of the Forest home	Patricia Smith
Malvina Kurtz, whose ambition is to have a beau	Mae Rose Knight
Mrs. Forrest, the haughty sister-in-law of Tad Forrest	Phyllis Hepner
Annabel Spriggins, the village old maid	Frances Herod

"The Ghost Parade" while not given the most prominent place in the annual, was probably the best liked play of the season. Those included in the cast were: Clarence Schreiner, Anne Simala, Betty Seroczynski, Thomas Volkman, Douglas LeBreton, Ambrose McGinnity, James Ikonovic, Thomas Engleton, Robert Schumacher, Mary Virginia Connelly, Mary Agnes Schneider, Mary Kalb, Jean Sullivan, Nadyne Reynolds, Elaine Farcus, George Parker.

Much of the success of this play, as well as the other plays of the year, was due to the able and efficient stage manager, Albert Zimmerman.

"Barter," the prize winning biblical play of Longmans Green Play-writing Contest for 1928, was prepared by the Seniors as the annual Lenten presentation and given on April 7. In "Barter," a four act play by Brother Urban Magle, is, portrayed a new testament theme with utmost respect and vividness. The theme of the play is built around the great love of Miriam, a Jewish maiden for an officer of the Roman army, Varrus by name. Miriam's father disregards Hebrew law and promises her in marriage to Varrus, if the Roman will but let a force of Temple soldiers pass through the city and apprehend Christ, whom he believes to be a blasphemer. This complicated series of acts is brought on by Rhea, second wife to Jobal, in her desire to crush Phannel, a noble Jew, who has jilted her and desires the hand of Miriam. Betty Seroczynski and William DeMuth were cast in the leading roles; they were assisted by Albert Petrauskas, John Jacewicz, George Parker Bernadette de St. Aubin, Veronica Ring, Douglas Le Breton, Ann Simala, Irene Welty, and Evelyn Huber. A musical interlude was given during the intermission between acts. Ambrose McGinnity soloist sang "Christ went up into the Hills"; the school double quartet sang "Panis Angelicus," and "Adoremus Te"; a choir of mixed voices sang the sacred song "Holy City."

ALL IN A DAY

"There goes the first bell. I sure am glad I'm on time this morning. What I heard the last time I was late won't bear repeating. I wonder what I did with my locker key; it's not in that pocket, nor in that one. Did I lend it to someone? Oh, now I remember, I left it on the table at home. That means I'll have to get the master key. Thanks, Sister, I'll get it right back to you. Now that the locker's open, where's the religion book? Somebody stays awake nights trying to find new places to hide my things. Oh, there goes the last bell. I guess I go into conference after all up in the office. . . .

"Boy, am I hungry! Ah, there goes the good old bell, 12:05 and all are famished. Now to get to that locker. Get off my feet. Haven't you two of your own? Hey, who pushed me? Get out of my way! Where did my lunch go? I have my suspicions. Who took that lunch? Quit shoving until I find that lunch. Oh, yes, I forgot, this is the day I buy my lunch. Now for a plunge through center and I'll be wide open for a dash to the cafeteria! . . .

"Isn't that bell ever going to ring? At last, there it goes and so do I. I wonder what books I ought to take home. Let's see; the English book is too heavy; Latin? that's not going to be so bad tomorrow and the Math I did in study. I don't care so much about being a scientist, so I'll let the Biology book rest in peace, too. Here's a book from the library; it's a good story and besides, reading is educational. Going my way? If you hurry, I'll 'leave' you walk with me."

THE SCHOOL TROLLEY

Every morning about eight-fifteen if you chance to pass the priests' rectory, or happen to be gazing towards that direction a familiar sight can be seen.

For every morning about that time Rev. Father Junk and Father Scharf, desperately try to start their car, a wreck, which, upon close examination resembles a Chevrolet coupe.

After two or three unsuccessful attempts to start the car by pushing it from the rectory to the convent and back, the two priests, with the aid of about twenty freshmen succeed in making the car "cough."

Down the home stretch leading from the rectory to the school suddenly a great noise is heard, similar to that heard at Indianapolis Race Track.

Students dart out of the way, expecting to see Malcolm Campbell come tearing down the track about 300 miles an hour; but lo! it is only Father Junk and Father Scharf driving to school, the speedometer registering 7¾ miles per hour.

A sudden escape of steam indicates that the brakes are being applied, then suddenly a bang, a big 50 pounds of iron is thrown out of the car as an anchor, and the car comes to a halt, perhaps with the loss of only a few bolts. Then they tie it to a tree in order that the wind may not carry away their precious treasure.

SILVER JUBILEE

The Reverend Richard Grunenberg came to Catholic Central nine years ago, and during those nine years he has been a prominent figure in the activities of the school and has devoted himself unsparingly as a teacher of music. In his work of taking care of the music department he has always had the orchestra ready for any occasion. He has started many students on the road of fine musicianship, but aside from teaching Father takes a personal interest in the success of his pupils. He is a friend of the student body and a promoter of the school. Father is also a teacher of foreign languages, Latin and Greek, and his hobby is photography.

On Wednesday October 2, 1935 Father Grunenberg celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination at Vienna. At ten o'clock in the auditorium he was the celebrant of a solemn high mass with the Rev. J. Sipos as deacon, the Rev. J. Lesniak as subdeacon, and the Rev. J. Beckman as master of ceremonies. The Glee Club sang the Missa de Angelis and the sermon was delivered by the Rev. Joseph Eckert, S. V. D. After a lunch at eleven-thirty the students assembled in the auditorium for a program given in Father's honor by the students, assisted by Miss Mary Hoess, Miss Regina Brown, and Miss Helen Laver.

SISTER AUGUSTINE MARIE

It was with a mixture of joy and sorrow that the students bade farewell to their beloved Sister Augustine Marie on October 21, 1935. They were joyful because of the opportunity of seeing Sister again; they were sorrowful for they realized that they would never see her again since she was leaving to be a missionary in India. Accompanying Sister were Sister M. Francelia, C. S. C. and Sister Mary Clare, O. S. F. At a special assembly Sister Augustine Marie spoke to the student body of her loyalty to Catholic Central and of the need of missionaries among the Bengalese. Paul Cashman, president of the Christurst Mission Unit expressed the affection and the best wishes of the students. The sentiments of the Mothers' Club were expressed by Mrs. Emile de St. Aubin. The Reverend H. J. Conway then spoke in the name of the faculty as did the Reverend A. J. Junk. The students all had the privilege of shaking hands with Sister before her departure.

ANNUAL RETREAT

The annual retreat held January 29, 30, 31, was conducted by the Reverend Cyril Ernst, C. PP. S. The conferences, practical and direct, were well attended. Large numbers of students took advantage of the opportunity to receive daily Holy Communion. The retreat closed with Solemn High Mass and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The closing instruction on the value of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass was one that will long be remembered.

THE DEBATE

The Senior Class sponsored a debate on March 19th before a large audience. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved that the United States should adopt the British system of radio operation and control.

The members of the negative side, Martha Sabados, Claude Hisey and Joseph Carr, won the decision. The affirmative team was composed of Chester Kiciak, Catherine O'Keeffe and Julia Finn. James Ilovic, senior president, was the chairman, Miss Helen Weis and Mr. Jerome Kolb, members of the alumni, and Mr. John Hybiak, president of the Men's Club, served as judges. Clarence Schreiner acted as time-keeper.

ORATORY

On Friday, March 27th, was held the elimination oratorical contest in which three Senior boys participated. The student body attended. Chester Kiciak took first place with a masterful delivery of "The Right to Die." George Bolinger, speaking on "The Value of Inter-Scholastic Athletics" and Albert Zimmerman, speaking on "Is One Religion As Good As Another?" were tied for a close second. Chester won the right to represent the school at the State Catholic High School contest sponsored by the Wranglers' Club of the University of Notre Dame. This was held on Sunday afternoon, April 4th. Chester, who was the fifth speaker, was awarded the McNamara trophy, which is a beautiful silver loving cup.

Not satisfied with the acquisition of one loving cup, Catholic Central entered the competition sponsored by the Rotary Club in Hammond. Central's representative, Douglas LeBreton, victorious over the contestants from Hammond High and George Rogers Clarke, came back with the Rotarian trophy, a silver cup with an embossed Rotarian seal.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE OF CATHOLIC SCHOOL PRESS ASSOCIATION

Catholic Central High School was represented by two members of the faculty and two members of the Marquette staff, Alice Watson and Virginia Schilling, at the Regional Conference of the Catholic School Press Association for the greater Chicago area. The conference was held at the Loyola Community Theatre, February 29, 1936, and consisted of general assemblies followed by round table discussions. We are confident that next year's conference will find a larger representation from Catholic Central at this important midwest press meeting.

BAZAAR

Concentrated competition signalled the approach of the bazaar at Catholic Central which was held on April 16, 17, and 18. Racetracks, and thermometers answered the daily query, "Who's ahead"? Future salesmen proved their ability by turning in book after book of tickets. "Pep" talks, braggarts' tales of past and future conquests, and good natured teasing lilled in the five minute periods between classes, and sometimes afterwards. As the time drew nearer, pounding, hammering, shouted commands or mere suggestions were heard as booths of all shapes and sizes transformed the auditorium into a veritable fair grounds. Booths were sponsored by the Mothers' Club, The Men's Club, the Alumni, and all the classes; there was no end of them! Telegraph messengers shot around the moving throngs delivering messages as important as the "news taken from Ghent to Aix"; Bingo callers attracted everyone with an extra dime; bewitching dolls and painted clowns offered pockets from which might be taken intriguing packages; dancing and the ever-welcome refreshment booths were popular; the practical grocery stall conducted by the Men's Club, the fun-making "nigger babies" and donkey games, the mysterious fortune teller, the quacking ducks, the attractive Novelty Shoppe, the refreshing pop stand, the beautiful fancy-work, delicious candy, and the favorite fish pond helped to make the 1936 Bazaar the distinguished success that it was. The Sophomore C class won the coveted honor of selling the largest number of Big Tickets and thoroughly enjoyed the promised reward.

DANCES

Since the publication of the initial Marquette, the Class of '36 has sponsored three dances that have met with unprecedented success. The Junior Prom, held June 7th, 1935, was without doubt the one outstanding social event. The gym was filled to capacity with the gaily decked couples who swayed to the music of Billy Robinson and his Orchestra. Steve Kona, Junior Class president, with Miss Betty Seroczynski, and Bruno Nalepa, Senior Class president, with Miss Ann Perinovac, led the Grand March at 9:00 o'clock.

The Fall Jamboree, November 4th, 1935, was another school dance that drew a large crowd. Decorated lavishly, the balloon-studded gym with its crowd of happy couples presented a scene that will not soon be forgotten. The Seniors were host to the underclassmen, alumni and friends, and, as usual, the affair went over in grand style. Billy Robinson again played.

The first official act of The Senior Class of 1936 was to hold a private party in the school cafeteria. Games were played and lunch was served, then dancing predominated until the end of the party. It was one more example of the organization and good friendship found in this class.

OUTSIDE THE PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE

The first in line outside the office door was a serious-faced girl who was evidently expecting an ordeal; behind her were two boys whose hilarious laughter betrayed the fact that they were trying to reassure themselves. The next must have been a freshman for she was trembling visibly. One stern look from the reverend principal and she would be in tears. Near her stood a blase individual who must have been a sophomore, for only sophomores can achieve that look of complete boredom.

Lounging beside her was a classmate of hers, world-weary, with practically the whole world in the palm of his hand. He very politely but definitely ignored the dignified junior girl who stood in front of him. Her actions stated plainly that she thought the underclassmen were all silly and childish and that she certainly hoped she had not acted that way when she was a freshman and a sophomore. Apart from this little group awaited a senior girl who looked just a wee bit hurt, even insulted, that she, a senior, should have to get an excuse. The teachers must think her still a child, but—well, to tell the truth she was no more anxious to interview the principal than were the rest of the crowd.

A jangle of keys, a deep voice on the stairway, then a combined more or-less hearty greeting, "Good morning, Father"—and the first of the line entered the sanctum sanctorum.

Lucile Schmelter

"SATAN REFORMED"

A short time ago the Hoess Brothers "to rid themselves of Satan," gave him to Father Conway whom they thought would be more able than they to tame him. Since "Satan" has lodged himself in Father Conway's garage he has been elevated from the rank of the city's champion cat-chaser to Central's most prized possession, that of mascot. However, it was hardly appropriate for a Catholic priest to have among his belongings any article bearing the name of "Satan," and so Father Conway re-christened him "Bosco" and restored him to the favor of all good Christians. Since "Bosco" has forsaken his former life and name he has been taken into the good graces of the Centralites and is allowed to strut up and down the side-lines during our football games wearing a red blanket upon which is the Catholic Central monogram. A favorite cry on our Athletic Field is "We want Bosco!"

Let us introduce you to him in person on the next page: Phyllis Hepner.

ATHLETICS

Reverend A. J. JUNK, Director

Athletics, with its many advantages to body and mind, hold an important position in the activities of Catholic Central High. Sports are not stressed enough to prove detrimental to the participating students yet they hold their proper place and the various teams have the loyal support of faculty and student body. The teams of the past two years have made excellent records.

FOOTBALL

Catholic Central's spectacular comeback to football recognition has been due to the unceasing endeavors of John Wallace, who has been the guiding influence of the team for the past five years. Coach Wallace is noted for his timely strategies when his team is handicapped by lack of size and weight, and his coaching ability has been demonstrated by the splendid record that his team has achieved in the last two seasons. Coach Wallace acquired his gridiron talents from the master mentor of them all, Knute Rockne, while playing at Notre Dame with the famous Four Horsemen.

Although handicapped by severe injuries through all of its games Catholic Central High School's football team chalked up another successful season attaining four wins against four losses. The Centralites referred to last year as the "wonder team" of the Calumet region, lost to the four best teams in the district, each a champion in its own right. The team defeated Crown Point, Hammond Tech, George Rogers Clark, and the Alumni while it lost to Horace Mann, Champions of the western division of the N. I. H. S. conference, Thornton Fractional, South Suburban champions, Hammond High, one of the ten best teams in Indiana, and Mooseheart, judged one of the best in Illinois.

GRIDIRON GLANCES

The
1936

Sept. 14 — Catholic Central raised its football curtain with a costly victory over the Alumni to the tune of 6 to 0. On the first play after the initial kickoff, Bruno Nalepa, Alumni halfback, cut through tackle for 60 yards, but was spilled down from behind before reaching the goal. Ray Michaeliewicz, Central's right end, suffered a sprained elbow and was lost to the team for three weeks. Bugaj, Central's right halfback, skirted left end for the only score of the game from the ten yard stripe.

Sept. 21 — After outplaying Horace Mann High School of Gary in the first half, Catholic Central was beaten 20 to 0 by an inspired second-half rally on the part of the Horsemen. Harmon, Mann's all-conference quarterback, contributed several spectacular runs and two touchdowns to his team's cause. Central on several occasions was within ten yards of the opponent's goal, but Mann's strong defense held successfully.

Oct. 1 — Playing on a slow field because of a recent rain, Catholic Central downed Crown Point High School by the score of 26 to 0. Coach Wallace used 33 players in this game which proved that Central had the situation well in hand at all stages. Two of Central's touchdowns were scored by Bill Radigan, Central halfback.

Oct. 12 — As a climax to the Hammond Welfare Drive week, Catholic Central marked up its third win of the season by over-powering Hammond Tech 6 to 0. Central scored in the second quarter and threatened Tech's goal many more times during the game, but the clawing Tigers refused to be pushed back of their ten yard marker.

Oct. 27 — Central's record of not having lost a game on its home field was shattered by Thomson Fractional of Calumet City, when the Meteors handed the Centralites their second defeat of the season by the score of 13 to 0. The South Suburban Champions scored in the second and third periods on a long pass and a long run.

Nov. 3 — Playing against a superior team of exceptional power and drive, Catholic Central received its worst defeat of the season from Hammond High by the score of 24 to 0. The Centralites resorted to a

The
of

desperate passing game, but the Wildcat line gave the Central passer little time for accuracy.

Nov. 10 — George Rogers Clark, determining to avenge their defeat of last year, was again turned back by a spirited Central aggregation who piled up a fourteen point advantage before the Pioneers could recover. The game ended with Catholic Central on the long end of a 14 to 7 score. Central backs gained at will through the opponent's line because of some beautiful blocking by the Central linesmen. Central was handicapped by the loss of Captain Steve Kona who was unable to play because of a leg injury. Central's touchdowns came in the first and second quarters after two successive marches down the field had made the scores possible.

Nov. 17 — In the last encounter of the season, Catholic Central fell before the second-half attack of Mooseheart and lost by the score of 16 to 6. The first half saw the Centralites constantly threatening the Mooseheart goal, but failing to push over a well-earned touchdown. On the short end of a 16 to 0 score, Central started a spirited march in the third quarter and climaxed it with a much needed touchdown.

In the last quarter another similar march fell short of the Mooseheart goal by ten yards. Central's lone tally was scored by Kona from the two yard marker.

DANIEL O'KEEFE
Coach

For the past two years the basketball destinies of Catholic Central have been in the capable hands of Coach Daniel O'Keefe. "Danny," as he is affectionately called by the members of the team, is a great favorite of the boys and a personal friend of each. Coach O'Keefe is an Alumnus of Catholic Central and spent two years at St. Louis University where he was an outstanding athlete. His untiring efforts have had much to do with the success of Catholic Central's Quintet.

Top Row — Kenneth Moser, Paul Cashman, Albert Petrauskas, George Bolinger, Jerome Yocis.

BASKETBALL BEAMS

The Catholic Central hardwood campaign of '35-'36 proved to be one of the most successful seasons a Blue and Grey quintet has had for the past few years. The team compiled a record of ten games won and nine games lost. Although the record is barely over the five hundred mark, it is well to remember the team met, on equal grounds, some of the best basketeters in the Calumet region, a district noted for its rugged competition.

The varsity squad, composed of nine seniors and a lone sophomore, fought hard throughout the season and gained the reputation of being one of the hardest fighting aggregations in these parts. Even in contests which they lost their fighting spirit and sportsmanship were always evident.

The offensive burden of this fine team was upheld mainly by three players who could warm the heart of any coach. They were Captain "Ray" Michaelewicz, "Jerry" Yocis, and "Pete" Petrauskas.

Captain Michaelewicz was at all times an outstanding player from his forward position. He alone amassed the total of 138 points, surpassing his record of the previous season by 3 points.

"Jerry" Yocis, guard, was feared by opponents for his deadliness in shooting from far out. Another asset was his defensive ability.

Pete "Petrauskas, a center transformed to a forward to team up with "Ray," was a great pivot shot and the new rules seemed to hinder him very little.

Other players who helped to provide the winning punch were George Bolinger and Paul Cashman, center, "Teddy" Kwiatkowski, forward, and "Mouse" Moser, "Steve" Kona, "Tony" Piatek, guards.

HARDWOOD HIGHLIGHTS

On November twenty-ninth Catholic Central met and defeated Thorn-ton Fractional by the score of 32-29. This was a sweet victory to the Cen-tralites due to the keen rivalry existing between the two schools. Captain Michaelewicz paced the Blue and Grey's spirited attack with thirteen points.

The Commodores of Decatur invaded the Central lair expecting a second victory, but were administered their first setback in twelve games. Captain "Ray" Michalewicz and "Jerry" Yocis scorched the nets as each garnered twenty points. The final score was Central 50, Decatur 17.

The
1936

After traveling over seventy miles into enemy territory, Catholic Central was defeated by Mooseheart. The score 24-22 indicates the thrilling type of game it was. A belated Central rally, headed by Bolinger, fell short by a meager two points.

In a game which will long be remembered for its thrilling and hectic moments, Central eked out a 16-15 victory from St. Mary's of Michigan City. Joe Nalepa's last minute "bucket" from beyond mid-floor brought victory to the Blue and Grey.

Invading the Masonic Temple at Hammond, Central met its most heartbreaking defeat of the season at the hands of Hammond Tech. The Tech Tigers led throughout, but Central's sharp-shooters headed by "Pete" Petrauskas were continually snapping at their heels. The gun found Central on the short end of a 32-27 score.

After completing a successful season the Catholic Central basketeers left for Fort Wayne to participate in the annual Indiana Catholic High School Basketball Tournament.

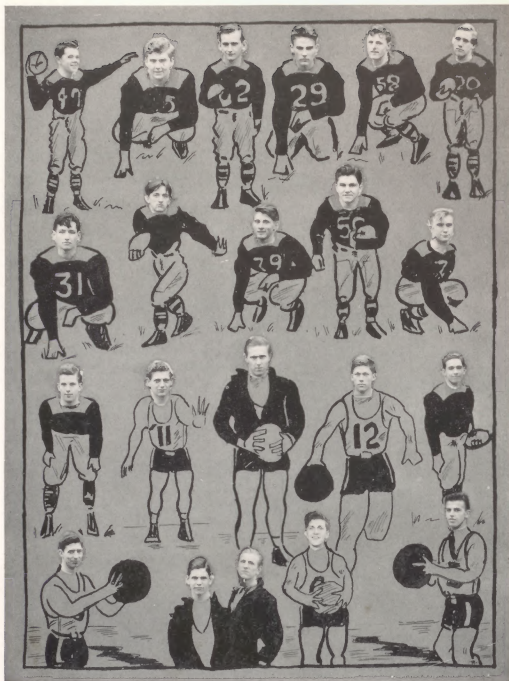

The Hammondites opened the tournament against St. Paul's of Marion. Captain Michaelewicz led his team to the 25-19 victory with nine points.

Entering into the second round of the tournament Central was pitted against St. Mary's of Anderson, the ultimate champion. The contest was a gruelling one and a hot pace was maintained throughout, ending with the final score of 35-26. It was the second year in a row that the representatives from Catholic Central were eliminated in the second round by the coming champions.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Basketball, the principal sport for girls at Catholic Central, attracted an unusually large number this year. This was probably due to the fact that there was more attention given the sport and better organization on the whole. This year the suits were of different colors for the class teams. The freshmen had green, the sophomores tan, the juniors blue with white collars and belts, and the seniors cadet blue.

Those who participated in athletics learned not only the health value of athletics but also the value of sportsmanship. The girls learned to realize the full meaning of the words:

*"And when the One Great Scorer comes
To write against your names
He writes not that you won or lost
But how you played the game."*

CLASS TOURNAMENT

The interclass tournament which created great enthusiasm began the week of March 23, 1936. The final game was played March 31 and proved to be the most thrilling and exciting of the tournament. The intense interest in this game was probably due to the fact that it was played between the Freshmen and the Seniors. The Seniors came forth victorious in the last half-minute of play, much to their joy as it was their final appearance on Central's floor.
